BIRDROCK HOME’S REPLY IN SUPPORT OF REQUEST FOR EVIDENTIARY HEARING

Defendant WAXMAN SALES LLC, a Texas limited liability company d/b/a BirdRock Home (“BirdRock”), by and through undersigned counsel, files this reply in support of its request for an evidentiary hearing regarding the disputed subject matter of its pending Motion for Award of Attorneys Fees and Damages by Defendant Waxman Sales LLC d/b/a BirdRock Home (ECF No. 56).

ARGUMENT

In its response in opposition to BirdRock’s request for evidentiary hearing, Plaintiff first argues that BirdRock’s request is untimely under the Court’s Local Rules. The Local Rules of the Southern District of Florida, however, makes no mention of evidentiary hearings, let alone how and when one must be requested. As such, this argument fails right out of the gate. Indeed, the Local Rules only require that oral argument and hearings, in general, be requested in the operative motion or response thereto. L.R. 7.1(b)(2). And, as conceded by Plaintiff, BirdRock did request a hearing in its motion for fees.

Case law cited by Plaintiff also does not support its timeliness argument. Plaintiff cites to Sunseri v. Macro Cellular Ptnrs, 412 F. 3d 1247, 1250-51 (11th Cir. 2005). Sunseri, however, is distinguishable because the parties never requested an evidentiary hearing. Id. at 1250 (“We have carefully reviewed the record in this case, and neither party ever asked the magistrate judge to hold an evidentiary hearing.”). Indeed, the plaintiff in Sunseri did not mention the term evidentiary hearing until during the hearing on the motion at issue (id.) and in doing so did not make an “unequivocal” request for an evidentiary hearing. Id. at 1251. Here, BirdRock has filed an unequivocal request for evidentiary hearing and has done so prior to the motion being heard or even set for hearing. Thus, Plaintiff’s reliance on Sunseri is misplaced, and BirdRock’s request for evidentiary hearing should be granted.

Plaintiff also cites to the First Circuit principle that “[the court will] turn a deaf ear to protests that an evidentiary hearing should have been convened but was not, where [] the protester did not seasonably request such a hearing in the lower court.” Similar to Sunseri, however, these cases involve matters in which the parties never requested an evidentiary hearing in the lower court. Aoude v. Mobil Oil Corp., 892 F. 2d 1115, 1120 (1st. Cir. 1989); Morales-Feliciano v. Parole Bd. of Com. Of Puerto Rico, 887 F. 2d 1, 7 (1st Cir. 1989) (rejecting argument that lower court should have held evidentiary hearing where party did not request one) (citing Common Futures Trading Comm’m v. Premex, Inc., 655 F. 2d 779, 782 n. 2 (7th Cir. 1981) (evidentiary hearing not required where defendant failed to demand one)).

Further, none of the cases cited by Plaintiff endorses a hard fast rule for when, or even how, an evidentiary hearing must be requested. At most, they only stand for the proposition that an evidentiary hearing must be requested prior to a ruling from the lower court in order for it to be an issue on appeal. And, because BirdRock has made its request for evidentiary hearing prior to the motion being heard or set for hearing, its request is timely and should be granted.

Plaintiff's argument regarding when factual disputes were raised by Plaintiff is nothing more than a red herring, as BirdRock has never averred that Plaintiff's factual disputes were first made in its opposition. Rather, BirdRock refers to the factual disputes only to show that an evidentiary hearing is warranted. See, e.g., Caplan v. All Am. Auto Collision, Inc., 36 F.4th 1083, 1093-94 (11th Cir. 2022); see also Didie v. Howes, 988 F.2d 1097, 1105 (11th Cir. 1993); United Cannabis Corp. v. Pure Hemp Collective Inc., 66 F.4th 1362, 1368-69 (Fed. Cir. 2023). To the extent Plaintiff's second argument supports its first argument regarding timeliness, it must also fail - neither the local rules nor case law cited by Plaintiff supports that argument.

Plaintiff's argument that the motion for fees only regards issues of law also fails. For example, in order to determine whether sanctions should be imposed, the Court must determine whether Plaintiff brought this action in bad faith. Barnes v. Dalton, 158 F.3d 1212, 1213 (11th Cir. 1998). "In determining whether sanctions should be awarded under the bad faith standard, 'the inquiry will focus primarily on the conduct and motive of a party, rather than on the validity of the case.'" Barash v. Kates, 585 F. Supp. 2d 1347, 1362 (S.D. Fla. 2006) (quoting Rothenberg v. Sec. Mgmt. Co., Inc., 736 F.2d 1470, 1472 (11th Cir. 1984)). Thus, it follows that the Court will necessarily make findings of fact regarding Plaintiff's conduct and motive in bringing this action. Accordingly, a ruling on the motion for fees will require findings law and fact, and an evidentiary hearing will assist the Court in makings such findings.

Lastly, BirdRock takes issue with Plaintiff's framing of BirdRock's motives. BirdRock reminds Plaintiff that BirdRock was wrongfully included in this case by Plaintiff—based on Plaintiff's half-baked assumptions and utter lack of due diligence. Indeed, Plaintiff should have engaged in extraordinary diligence before requesting the extraordinary remedies that it sought.

Clearly, it is Plaintiff's reckless harassment of a legitimate domestic competitor that has brought us to this juncture, not BirdRock's good faith attempt to recoup its fees and lost profits in fighting Plaintiff's frivolous action against it.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, BirdRock respectfully requests that this Court grant its request for an evidentiary hearing on the subject matter of BirdRock's motion for fees (ECF No. 56).
